In the previous year after all charges and payments of $1,452.42 on common stock dividends, the corporation showed a surplus of $248,055, compared with a 1921 deficit of $957,057.

Profits it is stated, from operations for the company and its subsidiaries amounted to $252,511. Deductions of $150,000 for depreciation, $1,250,571 for interest on out-standing bonds and on bills payable and $2,000 for dividends on first preferred stock of B. B. and R. Knight, Inc., from the operating profits, however, left the $957,057 deficit. From the last figure quoted was subtracted $24,906, the surplus from the company in January, 1920, leaving a final profit and loss deficit for the company to Jan. 1, 1922 of $632,150. The report states that the southern hills of the corporation and the Windsor Print Works division, at North Adams, Mass., operated at a profit during the year, the Knight properties here, the president Frederick R. Fumagalli stated were operated at a big loss. In addition the company wrote down its inventories nearly $3,000,000.

Many fine trees which were started last fall are reported to be in excellent shape. It is probable that the Negely Garment Hanger Co. will locate here in business as they are considering purchasing the property on Water street of the late Oscar Pendleton, who conducted an old established coal business for years and up to his death. The brick building with its fine dockage makes this a most desirable place for a firm to locate, as wood and materials have to be brought from Maine for this firm. The company employs about 300 hands at the main plant in Toledo and would give employment to many people here, to about 175. Louis Hammond and son Paul, who recently purchased the local business, will no doubt locate in the ship yard should the C. L. Negely Co. decide to take over the Pendleton block.
